

NEW-YORK DAILY TRIBUNE. SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1899.

small pearl which originally belonged to her mother, Miss Mary Louise Black, a niece of Dr. Hill, will be the maid of honor. Dr. Frederick Willard will be the bridegroom's best man.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Anna Crawford, daughter of Mrs. Frances M. Crawford of No. 22 West East-side, to John M. Cox of Mr. and Mrs. John Rivers, of Brooklyn. The ceremony will be performed at 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, November 13, in the Rutgers-Presbyterian Church, Broadway and Seventy-second Street. Miss Anna Crawford, younger sister of Anna, will be the maid of honor. Miss Helen O'Meara, Miss Louise Smith, Miss Helen Jones, Miss May Parker, Miss Anna Rivers, Miss Anna Rivers, Miss Nathan T. Stever, Miss Anna Rivers, and Miss Frank Trull will serve as bridesmaids. The ceremony will be followed by a dinner for the relatives and members of the bridal party.

The marriage of Miss Mary Landan Burton, a niece of ex-Governor E. J. Ormsbee of Vermont, to James A. McEvily, will take place at the home of the bride's uncle, Dr. George T. Stevens, No. 102 West Thirty-third-st., on Thursday, November 13.

Miss Estelle Sherman, daughter of W. S. Sherman, will be married to Joseph Bauman, at Perry's on Thursday, November 13.

The wedding of Miss Elsie Nandell, daughter of the late Dr. Leland P. Nandell, of Louisville, Ky., and Dr. Daniel Nandell, son of Charles G. Barber, of the city, will be celebrated at Christ Church Cathedral, Louisville, on Wednesday, November 13. The service will be a full church one.

Miss Nandell, of Kentucky, will officiate.

There will be one band except for Miss Maude Nandell, who will be maid of honor.

The best man will be Charles Russell Hemphill, and the ushers Benjamin Wistar Morris, Jr., Frederick P. Delaney, and Theodore Everingham, sons of the city, William Garrison Conix, of Louisville, Jaspar Jones, of Brookline, of Pittsfield, Eugene Knapp, of Newington-Castleton, and Edward F. C. of Louisville. There will be a solemn recessional served after the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, No. 315 West Broadway. A large party will go to Louisville from the bride's home in a motor boat, and the entire series of interest from here and throughout the South will be on hand to witness the marriage of one of the young families interested.

Miss Nandell is a strong type, and has been very popular here, both in this country and abroad, ever since a few seasons ago.

For an accomplished housewife and musician, Miss Nandell is an architect in the city, a graduate of Yale, and a member of the French Academy in Paris. He is one of the few men in this country who has received a diploma from the French government. He is a member of the Union and the Club of New York, and of the various social clubs in New-Haven, and the Society of Architects, Diplomate, part of Government of Paris.

A large audience will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria on Thursday afternoon, under the auspices of the West End Exchange for Women, which has just moved into a house at Seventy-fourth-st. and Amsterdam-ave., more spacious quarters having been found necessary, owing to the great increase in the business of the exchange and the larger scope made imperative by the addition of an employment bureau. Handbooks have been provided and the success of the entertainment is practically assured, as it is under the management of the well known patrons of the Exchange, among these being Mrs. Elizabeth Hubbard, Mrs. Walter Geer, Mrs. Mary Bowyer, Mrs. Townsend Jones, Mrs. W. Henry Aldrich, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. John H. Chapman, Mrs. E. F. Verne, Mrs. J. M. Miller, Mrs. Morris Brown, Mrs. E. P. Tyson, Mrs. John M. Stevens, Mrs. Edwin Holden, Mrs. Andrew Jackson, Mrs. Newell, Mrs. C. C. Clark, Mrs. Clara Durst, Mrs. J. L. Morris, Mrs. F. Neelius, Miss Julian Montgomery, Mrs. Induson F. Rose, Mrs. F. H. Huntington, Mrs. Clermont, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. Harry C. Moore, Mrs. J. M. Morrison, Mrs. Maxine, Mrs. Adolph Gunderson, Mrs. Charles Cooper, Mrs. K. L. Miller, Mrs. Henry Storn, Mrs. Julian Johnson, Mrs. Alice Dill, Mrs. E. A. Treat, Mrs. James E. Stevens, Mrs. George Ward, Mrs. W. H. Williams, Mrs. E. C. Stewart, Mrs. E. D. Jones, Mrs. Henry Platt, Mrs. S. W. Lawrence, Mrs. Gable, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Mrs. John G. Wentz, Mrs. E. W. W. Flanagan, Mrs. Frederick Zittel, Mrs. E. W. W. Flanagan, and Mrs. J. P. Donnell. Any one desiring tickets may apply to the manager at the Waldorf-Astoria or at the Exchange.

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

GOT THE LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I don't see why you didn't want me to read it through; every page, you must say, I couldn't find anything out of the way with it."

"After some further argument he produced the book he had purchased, which turned out to be a copy of the original "Looking Glass," and as the Beers have proved themselves to be well exactly with him. You can rest assured that when the full story of the defense of Ladyfountain comes to light, Lambton and his naval brigades part in it will be by no means the least."

George Jarvis, of Chicago, told a story on a friend of his yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"Some years ago," said Mr. Jarvis,

WRONG LOOKING GLASS was the rage, you may remember that there was considerable outcry against the work

on the score that it was immoral. This led my friend's wife, who was beyond question the head of the house, to insist on her spouse on no account to read the work. He, as was natural, rushed downtown straightway and purchased the forbidden volume. At dinner that night he said,

"Well, Sally, I